Although hurled from his car when it left the Harlansburg road, crashed through the protecting fence then upset and took fire, Edward Jones, 45, of 1413 Sixth street, Canton, O., has only lacerations of the head, face and legs in the New Castle hospital today as a result. He was enroute toward this city when the accident occurred last night at a point approximately five miles from the city line where the old macadam and concrete join.

According to reports of the accident collected by the state highway patrol, Jones was driving toward New Castle and evidently lost control of his sedan while descending the hill about 9:45 p. m. Friday.

The car ripped along the cables, broke down six cable poles and went over the hill. Jones was catapulted from the driver's seat as the car tumbled down the hill.

Car Takes Fire.

When the car stopped finally it caught fire. Within a few moments it was blazing fiercely. A passing autoist named Rogers, according to the state highway patrol, saw the burning car. He left his machine and rushed toward the car. He discovered Jones lying unconscious about 40 feet from the car and hurried him to the New Castle hospital when he found no one was in the blazing machine.

When Jones regained consciousness he remarked something about his wife, which caused a belief at the time that his wife might have been in the car.

State Highway Patrolman Heyman, who was dispatched from the state patrol station to investigate the accident, reports, however, that Jones was found to have been alone in the car.

Attaches at the New Castle hospital today said that Jones' condition is satisfactory but those who arrived first on the scene last night claim he had a miraculous escape from death.

The auto was completely ruined.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is being held in readiness to testify at Bruno Richard Hauptmann's extradition proceedings Monday, officials said today. If the plan is carried out it will be Colonel Lindbergh against the man accused of killing his child, with all other witnesses fading into the background. For Hauptmann, too, will be put on the stand as his own "star witness" in a desperate effort to evade being extradited to New Jersey to face charges of murdering the "Lindbergh baby."

New Jersey prosecutors explained that Lindbergh will be called only in an emergency. But if he is called he will speedily name Hauptmann as the man whose voice he heard calling to Dr. John F. Condon in St. Raymond's cemetery the night Condon handed over $50,000 ransom.

ANNEMASSE, France, Oct. 13.—After having made startling revelations concerning the "fraining" of terrorists for assassinating their foes, Svenimir Pospisil and Ivan Raitch, Croatians, today were officially charged with complicity in the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia.

The pair, who had confessed a part in the world-shocking crime and who had admitted being members of the dread Oustach, terrorist society composed of Croat refugees from Yugoslavia, revealed finally, in a night-long grilling, that they had been chosen to assure the death of King Alexander.

The complicity charges were lodged following their disclosures.

Demoralized and sleepless from more than two days and two nights of continual questioning, Raitch confessed he was under orders to kill King Alexander.

Boy King Arrives In Belgrade To Take Up His Royal Duties

BELGRADE, Oct. 13.—

Frightened, awed, and probably wondering what it all meant, an 11-year-old boy, King Peter II, of Yugoslavia, returned to his capital today to succeed his assassinated father, King Alexander.

All classes of people turned out to pack the streets in a warm welcome for their new monarch, a tiny bit of humanity returned to them as king in place of the strong, dictatorial Prince, who left Belgrade in the prime of life only a few days ago.

It was the end of Peter's journey from an English school where study and play engaged him in a carefree life. It was the end of that life.

Ahead of him lay work.

Returning to Belgrade with him, and to help him meet this new life, were his mother, the widowed Queen Marie, and her mother, the Dowager Queen Marie of Romania.

Strong guard out

Fifty thousand regular police, augmented by strong forces from the provinces, mingled with the throngs to prevent any possible attempt upon the young king's life. Wild rumors that the plotters of King Alexander's death also were aiming at King Peter flew thick and fast about the capital for several hours after his arrival.

To the accompaniment of the thrilling strains of the national anthem, the royal train, which had set out from Paris on Thursday night, steamed into the Belgrade station.

King Peter immediately appeared at the doorway of his car, smiling shyly at his subjects.

General Damitrevich, marshal of the royal court, stepped forward from the crowd of welcoming nobles, and assisted Peter to alight. Then he led the somewhat embarrassed lad by the hand to inspect his guard of honor and receive the report of the commandant.

Strong Guard Out

Fifty thousand regular police, augmented by strong forces from the provinces mingled with the throngs to prevent any possible attempts upon the young king's life. Wild rumors that the plotters of King Alexander's death also were aiming at King Peter flew thick and fast about the capital for several hours before his arrival.

To the accompaniment of the thrilling strains of the national anthem, the royal train, which had set out from Paris on Thursday night, steamed into the Belgrade station.

King Peter immediately appeared at the doorway of his car, smiling shyly at his subjects.

General Damitrojevich, marshal of the royal court, stepped forward from the crowd of welcoming notables, and assisted Peter to alight. Then he led the somewhat embarrassed lad by the hand to inspect his guard of honor and receive the report of the commandant.

JUGO-SLAVIAN REPORTS HALTED

ROME, Oct. 13.—Doing her utmost to prevent the Marseilles assassination from causing a strain in her relations with Yugoslavia, Italy today suspended the activities of an Italian radio station and banned a special edition of the influential newspaper "Giornale D'Italia."

The action was taken following an extremely important talk, officially described as a "conversation" between the Yugoslavian minister and Fulvio Suvich, Italian under-secretary of state.

Both the radio station in its broadcasts and the newspaper had given full play to the anti-Italian riots at Sarajevo and other Yugoslavian cities.

Must Ignore Disturbances.

All Italian newspapers were informed today that disturbances in Yugoslavia must be ignored, and that nothing must be published which might incite the public mind.

Officials said the Yugoslavian minister had not made a formal protest against the activities of the radio

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Police department chemists today were attempting to decipher a blood-stained note in hope that it contained explanation of the suicide of George F. McClelland, radio pioneer.

The note and his body, with a bullet through the head, was found in his office a few minutes after he called up newspaper friends and told them:

"Come on over. I've got a swell story for you."

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13.—More than 200 members of the American Legion and nearly two score city and county police assembled at the armory here today preparatory to making an exhaustive search of the entire countryside about the Stoll kidnap scene.

Clues, leads or the kidnapper and his captive were the objects of the mass hunt.

Besides many of the 300 members of the American Legion alert, a body formed for just such emergencies, 16 county patrolmen and 20 city police and detectives were assigned to the search.

Ransom Not Collected

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13.—Ransom negotiations for release of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll by kidnappers had reached a standstill today, with her frantic husband anxiously awaiting further instructions from her abductors.

The night passed without a known contact being made and authorities admitted they were no closer to solution of the mystery.

The $50,000 demanded in the note left at the Stoll home when the frail society leader was beaten and dragged into an automobile two and

Too Much Wind For Proposed Trip Into Stratosphere Today

START TO BE MADE FROM DETROIT, MICH.

(International News Service) DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 13.—After a three-hour futile wait for ideal atmospheric conditions the proposed stratospheric flight by Professor Jean Piccard and his pilot wife, Jeannette, was abandoned this morning.

Too much wind was the official announcement by Edward J. Hill, who was in charge of inflation of the giant bag, for postponing the flight.

Another attempt may be made in a few days, Hill announced. More than 10,000 people had gathered to watch the Piccards take off when the announcement came through post-poneing the flight.

Just Folks

LOVE AND BUSINESS
He used to go about his work as if no thought had he.
But that of proving to the boss how faithful he could be.
He balanced to the penny every ledger every day.
He'd only one ambition—twas to earn a raise in pay.

And then one day across his path there came a maiden fair.
Her eyes were dancing loveliness and shimmering gold her hair.
Her radiant smile bewitched him, but so beautiful was she
The only man to see her charms he could not hope to be.

Sometimes she made him welcome, and sometimes she made him wait.

For many a Sunday evening she'd already made a date.
She knew to keep him guessing was the clever thing to do;
But that was bad for business I am sure she never knew.

For he started making blunders and he dreamed the whole day long,
Though he added up the figures, the results were always wrong.
And the boss began to wonder had the boy's ambition tired.
For a most indifferent manner he had suddenly acquired.

But the lovely maiden saved him! Just a day before too late
She let him pose the question—and they named the wedding date.
Now he's adding up the figures in his usual accurate way
With his only one ambition—to deserve a raise in pay.

PLAN MASS HUNT OF COUNTRYSIDE IN KIDNAP CASE

A half day ago was planted in another city more than 24 hours ago, it was definitely learned.

Early today the money was still unclaimed and belief grew that the ransom directions in the note, which Stoll announced through the press and radio yesterday had been "met" form only the first stage of what may be protracted negotiations toward payment.

Investigators recalled in this connection that the note promised the kidnappers would get in touch with Stoll within five days. So far as is known, no contact has been established since the kidnapping at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Hope Dwindles

With the ransom thus unpaid despite the fact that the wealthy oil man readily put up the cash, hope for early return of his 26-year-old bridewife wife dwindled.

With each passing hour alarm increased over whether the society matron can withstand the rigors of captivity. She was ill with cold, had a feverish temperature and suffered two blows on the head, one cutting a deep gash on her forehead, when she was made prisoner.

Because of threats contained in the ransom note, failure of the kidnappers to establish communication with their victim's family caused double concern. Death and further kidnappings were the reported penalties warned of in the note.

Believe Several Involved

Although Mrs. Stoll was dragged from her home and driven off by a lone armed abductor, authorities were certain today that several were involved in the kidnapping.

Although regarding it was the work of a crank, police gave thorough study to a pencil-scrattered note dropped into the Lafayette, Ind., postoffice Friday morning saying:

"Berry—Alice is safe."

No more than a folded piece of paper, the note was without envelope or stamp. It was turned over to Police Chief John H. Kluth, at Lafayette and forwarded to Investigator F. J. Connelly here.

This was believed to have been the missile that a special delivery messenger rushed to the home at 2 o'clock this morning.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13.—Only two arrests have been made in Louisville since Mrs. Berry V. Stoll was kidnapped and both of these were on minor charges in no way connected with the abduction, police announced today.

Not a single kidnapping suspect has yet been taken into custody, they said.

Start Search

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 13.—Combing the countryside about the Berry V. Stoll residence in a desperate hunt for some clue to the fate of Stoll's wife, 50 picked policemen today made the first systematic search of the territory since the society beauty was abducted late Wednesday.

They had secret orders to look especially for a specific object, but Dr. J. Connally, Department of Justice agent in charge of the investigation, forbade any disclosure of these instructions.

They will make a house-to-house canvass questioning all residents. The force, divided into four squads, set out at 10:30 a. m. and planned to reassemble at five p. m.

Ransom negotiations were at a standstill and Berry Stoll herself said, "There's nothing to do but wait."

Payment of the $50,000 ransom had been attempted with dispatch of the money to a destination in accordance with the kidnapper's instructions, but the attempt failed when the cash was not called for.

This blasted hope of early release of the 26-year-old matron.

Connelly confirmed today that not a single word has been heard from the kidnaper since the ransom note was found at 4:20 p. m. Wednesday.

HUTCHINS MAY BE NAMED TO LABOR BOARD

Washington, Oct. 13.—Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, may succeed Lloyd Garrison, head of the University of Wisconsin law school, as chairman of the national labor relations board, it was reported here today.

Garrison, who has served a record in settling labor disputes, was loaned to President Roosevelt by Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, who has demanded that Garrison resume his duties over the request of the President that he remain in the federal position.

It was reported that the White House had requested University of Chicago officials to grant Hutchins a leave of absence to head the labor relations board, but no confirmation could be obtained.

Count On RWD Work To Halt Increasing Job Registrations

Think Coming Work Relief Will Pare Down 11,220 Applications

Hope that increasing RWD activities will reduce the 11,220 active registrations now on file at the Federal-State Employment bureau, Johnson building, to the 7,000 mark by early November, was expressed by employment officers today.

Registrations, it was shown, have climbed rapidly since the last of the RWD projects closed on June 30. At that time the active registrations totaled 7,237.

The office has spent considerable time since July 1 preparing its statistical picture of employable members of the county's relief families. It presents a full report on prospective workers in the families of the county's 23 political units. Harrisburg authorities consult the chart before making project decisions.

Approximately 16,000 cards were handed in the rebuilding of the new case registration and index files required at the office to meet the state's new work relief system.

Real Estate Men Elect Officers

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—L. W. Montevideo of Pittsburgh was elected president of the Pennsylvania Real Estate Association at the closing session of the 14th annual convention here today.

Other officers elected were: William Cristman, Washington, Pa., first vice president; E. Fred Kenner, Philadelphia, second vice president; H. P. Pierce, Reading, third vice president; D. T. Scott, Wilkes-Barre, fourth vice president; L. W. Campbell, Johnstown, fifth vice president, and J. Fenton Cloud, Norristown, secretary. Evan J. Milley, Harrisburg, was re-elected treasurer.

They will make a house-to-house canvass questioning all residents. The force, divided into four squads, set out at 10:30 a. m. and planned to reassemble at five p. m.

Ransom negotiations were at a standstill and Berry Stoll herself said, "There's nothing to do but wait."

AX SLAYING SUSPECT HELD

A slight worth seeing is a fire drill at Seneca High school, where the 1,900 and more students this week made an exit in the record time of a minute and three quarters. This record would impress you more if you saw the crowded classrooms that the four floors empty. Principal F. L. Oorth wants the exit time cut to a minute and a half and believes he has found a weak spot in the exit march. He'll make a minor change to try it. Safety is never forgotten at the school.

Killing frosts last year and this year, fell only one day apart. Last year, the first freeze occurred on October 14, when the temperature dropped to 28. This year, it was one day ahead, the mercury falling to 26 during the night, cooking all but the hardiest of vegetation.

Public spirited citizens are reminded of the annual gathering for the Almira Home which will be held Wednesday, October 17. Donations may be taken to the various churches Sunday, where they will be taken care of the following day and delivered to the home.

WEEKLY LETTER

MONDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1934

12:15 to 1:30 p. m.

Fellow Rotarian:

We will have an address by one of this district's most talented speakers, Dr. John Coleman, Geneva college, who will speak on "Current Events".

Dr. Coleman needs no introduction to a New Castle audience and we are sure he will be greeted with full attendance.

Clare Book attended Zelienople Rotary and Bob Eckles attended Ellwood City Rotary.

We are still accepting subscriptions to the Community Chest.

PROF. JEAN PICCARD POSTPONES FLIGHT

Weather Forces Delay In Flight

Too Much Wind For Proposed Trip Into Stratosphere Today

START TO BE MADE FROM DETROIT, MICH.

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 13.—After a three-hour futile wait for ideal atmospheric conditions the proposed stratospheric flight by Professor Jean Piccard and his pilot wife, Jeannette, was abandoned this morning.

Too much wind was the official announcement by Edward J. Hill, who was in charge of inflation of the giant bag, for postponing the flight.

Another attempt may be made in a few days, Hill announced. More than 10,000 people had gathered to watch the Piccards take off when the announcement came through postponing the flight.

Just Folks

LOVE AND BUSINESS
He used to go about his work as if no thought had he
But that of proving to the boss how faithful he could be.
He balanced to the penny every ledger every day.
He'd only one ambition—twas to earn a raise in pay.

And then one day across his path there came a maiden fair.
Her eyes were dancing loveliness and shimmering gold her hair.
Her radiant smile bewitched him,
but so beautiful was she
The only man to see her charms he could not hope to be.

Sometimes she made him welcome, and sometimes she made him wait.

For many a Sunday evening she'd already made a date.
She knew to keep him guessing was the clever thing to do;
But that this was bad for business I am sure she never knew.

For he started making blunders and he dreamed the whole day long.
Though he added up the figures, the results were always wrong.
And the boss began to wonder had the boy's ambition tired,
For a most indifferent manner he had suddenly acquired.

But the lovely maiden saved him!
Just a day before too late
She let him pop the question—and they named the wedding date.
Now he's adding up the figures in his usual accurate way
With his only one ambition—to deserve a raise in pay.

RESPECT

There is so little we can do when death strikes in the home of a relative or a friend. The one custom that expresses all our emotions is that of sending flowers. Properly assembled flowers can carry with them a message that is remembered long after the blooms themselves have withered. We are prepared to give you expert service and choice flowers.

PLAN MASS HUNT OF COUNTRYSIDE IN KIDNAP CASE

a half day ago was planted in another city more than 24 hours ago, it was definitely learned.

Early today the money was still unclaimed and belief grew that the ransom directions in the note, which Stoll announced through the press and radio yesterday had been "met," form only the first stage of what may be protracted negotiations toward payment.

Investigators recalled in this connection that the note promised the kidnappers would get in touch with Stoll within five days. So far as is known, no contact has been established since the kidnaping at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Hope Dwindles

With the ransom thus unpaid despite the fact that the wealthy oil man readily put up the cash, hope for early return of his 26-year-old bride waned.

With each passing hour alarm increased over whether the society matron can withstand the rigors of captivity. She was ill with a cold, had a feverish temperature and suffered two blows on the head, one cutting a deep gash on her forehead, when she was made prisoner.

Because of threats contained in the ransom note, failure of the kidnappers to establish communication with their victim's family caused double concern. Death and further kidnapings were the reported panacles warned of in the note.

Believe Several Involved

Although Mrs. Stoll was dragged from her home and driven off by a lone armed abductor, authorities were certain today that several were involved in the kidnaping.

Although regarding it was the work of a crank, police gave thorough study to a pencil-scarred note dropped into the Lafayette, Ind., postoffice Friday morning:

Berry—Alice is safe."

No more than a folded piece of paper, the note was without envelope or stamp. It was turned over to Police Chief John H. Kluth, at Lafayette and forwarded to Investigator F. J. Connelley here.

This was believed to have been the missile that a special delivery messenger rushed to the home at 2 o'clock this morning.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13.—Only two arrests have been made in Louisville since Mrs. Berry V. Stoll was kidnaped and both of these were on minor charges in no way connected with the abduction, police announced today.

Not a single kidnaping suspect has yet been taken into custody, they said.

Start Search

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 13.—Combining the countryside about the Berry V. Stoll residence in a desperate hunt for some clue to the fate of Stoll's wife, 50 picked policemen today made the first systematic search of the territory since the society beauty was abducted late Wednesday.

They had secret orders to look especially for a specific object, but E. J. Connelly, Department of Justice agent in charge of the investigation, forbade any disclosure of these instructions.

They will make a house-to-house canvass questioning all residents. The force, divided into four squads, set out at 10:30 a.m. and planned to reassemble at five p.m.

Ransom negotiations were at a standstill and Berry Stoll himself said, "There's nothing to do but wait."

Payment of the $50,000 ransom had been attempted with dispatch of the money to a destination in accordance with the kidnaper's instructions, but the attempt failed when the cash was not called for.

This blasted hope of early release of the 26-year-old matron.

Connelley confirmed today that not a single word has been heard from the kidnaper since the ransom note was found at 4:20 p.m. Wednesday.

STORIES CAUSE SLAYING

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Neighborhood stories of hoarded wealth, police were convinced here today, led to the brutal slaying of Mrs. Anna Soldat, 67, found strangled to death in her ransacked apartment.

The killers, presumably in search of riches, the aged woman was supposed to have hidden in the quarters in the rear of her small candy store, obtained only $4.50.

HUTCHINS MAY BE NAMED TO LABOR BOARD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, may succeed Lloyd Garrison, head of the University of Wisconsin law school, as chairman of the national labor relations board, it was reported here today.

Garrison, who has scored a record in settling labor disputes, was loaned to President Roosevelt by Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, who has demanded that Garrison resume his duties over the request of the President that he remain in the federal position.

It was reported that the White House had requested University of Chicago officials to grant Hutchins a leave of absence to head the labor relations board, but no confirmation could be obtained.

Count On RWD Work To Halt Increasing Job Registrations

Think Coming Work Relief Will Pare Down 11,220 Applications

Hope that increasing RWD activities will reduce the 11,220 active registrations now on file at the Federal-State Employment Bureau, Johnson building, to the 7,000 mark by early November, was expressed by employment officers today.

Registrations, it was shown, have climbed rapidly since the last of the RWD projects closed on June 30. At that time the active registrations totaled 7,237.

The office has spent considerable time since July 1 preparing its statistical picture of employable members of the county's relief families. It presents a full report on prospective workers in the families of the county's 25 political units. Harrisburg authorities consult the chart before making project decisions.

Approximately 16,000 cards were held in the rebuilding of the new case registration and index file required at the office to meet the state's new work relief system.

Real Estate Men Elect Officers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—L. W. Montevideo of Pittsburgh was elected president of the Pennsylvania Real Estate Association at the closing session of the 14th annual convention here today.

Other officers elected were: William Cristman, Washington, Pa., first vice president; E. Fred Kenner, Philadelphia, second vice president; H. P. Pierce, Reading, third vice president; D. T. Scott, Wilkes-Barre, fourth vice president; L. W. Campbell, Johnstown, fifth vice president, and J. Fenton Cloud, Norristown, secretary. Evan J. Miller, Harrisburg, was re-elected treasurer.

AX SLAYING SUSPECT HELD

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 13.—Judge David B. Head, United States Commissioner, announced today Harold W. Vermilyea, wanted by Canadian authorities for questioning concerning the ax slaying of his mother at Montreal Oct. 4, would not be turned over to Toronto officials until next week.

Extradition papers from the state department at Washington must be received here before the prisoner is released, despite the fact Vermilyea has volunteered to return to Canada, Judge Head said.

COAL PRODUCTION

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Production of anthracite in Pennsylvania during the week ended October 6, was 812,000 net tons, a decrease of 117,000 tons from the preceding week, the Bureau of Mines reported today. Production in the corresponding week of last year was 1,126,000 tons.

The total production of bituminous coal for the week was 7,036,000 tons, a decrease of 264,000 tons from the preceding week, while production for the same week last year was 5,660,000 tons.

In 1857, when the Great Eastern was built, it was the largest ship in the world at that time.

Lawrence County Couple Married For 63 Years

A notable event of the week was the sixty third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Glasser, of Energy, both well and prominent residents of this vicinity on October 10.

The day was spent quietly with relatives and friends but was distinguished by Mr. Glasser cradling buckwheat and threshing it with a flail, which is indicative of the good health he is enjoying at the ripe age of 85. Mrs. Glasser is 83 and she also is in good health and active.

The happy couple have five children: Mrs. Charles Leonhardt; R. D. Elwood; Mrs. W. T. Barton; Mrs. C. W. Boyer, of Elwood City; W. A. Glasser, of New Castle and Chas. E. Glasser of Fredonia.

Many greetings were extended by letter, card and personally for a much longer span of wedded life, from relatives and scores of friends.

CROWD FROM HERE AT BUTLER FRIDAY

An anniversary in the life of the Mary Ralph class of the Highland U. P. church was fittingly observed with a party Friday evening in the class room with Mrs. G. Shaler, Mrs. E. F. Toepfer, Mrs. Perry Thomas, Mrs. Martha Thomas, Mrs. J. V. Steward and Mrs. A. B. Vogan as hostesses.

The room was artfully dressed in autumnal colorings, which were carried out in the leaves and flowers arranged about the room.

Miss Susan Rhodes of Columbia, the president of the state federation, was an honored guest, and the principal speaker. Mrs. Helen Thompson of Greenville, the state federation vice president, was present and also had a part on the program. Miss Rhodes vividly outlined the sessions of the New York Herald-Tribune conference conducted September 1, in which Mrs. Geline MacDonald Anderson, national president of Business and Professional Women, and Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, international president, took part in the discussion of "status of women."

Those from the New Castle Junior club who were present: Helen D. White, president; Harriet Welsh, Ethel Hunt, Anna Benson, Mrs. Hazel Lightfoot, Mrs. Mary Guy, Lucile Luton, Bess Gailey, Geraldine Foy, Helen Hinkson, Mary Scherger, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Emily Rice, Mrs. Hazel Boyd, Mrs. Mabel Hutchinson, Beller, Sara Sankey McCune, Mary Harvard, Theodore Pollock, Mary Bigley, Sue Crumer, Mrs. Alice McKillip, Dr. Mildred Rogers, Mrs. Eva Failler, Florence Davis and Rose Barr.

From the New Castle Junior club: Lucille Emery, president; Mrs. Mac Cromie, Mary Whalen, Alice Mae Huffman and Lois Gibson.

Class Has Dinner.

A pretty table, seating 17, was arranged in the dining room of the Wesley Methodist church Friday evening when the members of the W. A. C. class assembled for a tureen dinner, with Miss Dorothy Baird as a special guest.

Mrs. M. K. Cox conducted a business session when plans were made for a Hallowe'en party October 25, after which a period of sociability was enjoyed.

Yucatan Club

Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Martin have invited the Yucatan club to their home on North Mercer street Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Attending House Party.

Alex McCready of New Wilmington, formerly of this city, went to Pittsburgh today to attend a house party.

DAUGHTERS AMERICAN COLONISTS' MEETING

First fall session of Kus Kus Ka chapter, Daughters American Colonists, held Friday in the Castleton hotel, was well attended, members being present from Greenville, Butler, Rochester, Beaver and New Castle.

The business meeting, beginning at eleven in the morning, was in charge of the regent, Mrs. Margaret Throckmorton of Beaver. It centered, mostly, on final accounts of the Kus Kus Ka bridge marking, which occurred in August, and new projects suggested by members.

At one o'clock, a delicious luncheon was served with chapter colors, gold and blue, predominating in the menu and floral decorations. Covers were laid for 25 guests.

The program, following, was much enjoyed, consisting of a piano selection by Mrs. W. A. McNally, a recitation by little Miss Katherine Johnson, and very interesting accounts of Kus Kus Ka Indians who formerly occupied this part of Lawrence county, by Mrs. F. G. Simonton and George Nichols. Their talks were illustrated by exhibits of articles used by these Indians in their daily life and warfare.

Arrangements for this delightful meeting were in charge of Mrs. Wyatt Campbell and Miss Gevien Stevenson, upon whom reflects much credit.

Members from Beaver will plan for the next meeting which will be held in Beaver Falls in December.

Mrs. W. A. Glasser, Neshannock Boulevard, spent Friday in Pittsburgh.

CHILDREN'S PARTY IS HAPPY OCCASION

Birthdays are happy days for children, and when there's a party and a Hallowe'en one, at that, the occasion is more than memorable.

Friday, October 12, Mary Lou Edgar was five years of age, and to celebrate, a number of little girls were invited to her home on Sheridan avenue, for a play period from 4 to 7. The little hostess received her guests in costume, many of them coming masked, representing Cinderella, Bo Peep, clowns and other well known characters.

The kiddies had the time of their lives amid a Hallowe'en setting of black pussycats, witches, pumpkins and what-nots, which were unusual. After opening the lovely gift packages, the children were amused with various games in which novelties were awarded to Margie Ann Glenn, Mary Butz and Charlotte Ann Jones.

At 5:30, supper was served, at the dining room table, attractive with orange and black tints, a birthday cake and clever favors.

Assisting the honored guest's mother, Mrs. J. A. Edgar, in serving were another daughter, Helene Edgar, Mrs. J. H. Frew, Miss Grace Woodworth and Mrs. R. M. Jamison.

CROWD FROM HERE AT BUTLER FRIDAY

With 27 members of the Senior club and five members of the Junior club motoring to Butler Friday evening, New Castle was splendidly represented at a district meeting of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

The meeting, held in a Butler hotel, attracted several hundred club women from all cities included in district No. 2 of the Pennsylvania Federation. Dinner was served at tables colorfully suggestive of Columbus Day, and later a speaking program was presented.

Miss Susan Rhodes of Columbia, the president of the state federation, was an honor guest, and the principal speaker. Mrs. Helen Thompson of Greenville, the state federation vice president, was present and also had a part on the program. Miss Rhodes vividly outlined the sessions of the New York Herald-Tribune conference, conducted September 1, in which Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, national president of Business and Professional Women, and Miss Lena Madisen Phillips, international president, took part in the discussion of "status of women."

Those from the New Castle Senior club who were present: Helen D. From the New Castle Junior club: Lucille Emery, president; Mae Cromie, Mary Whalen, Alice Mae Huffman and Lois Gibson.

Roeland-Gearhart

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roeland are receiving the congratulations of many friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Roeland in New Wilmington, following their marriage in New Castle, October 8.

Mrs. Roeland was formerly Isabelle Gearhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gearhart, of Pulaski. She is a graduate of New Wilmington High School, class of 1934. Mr. Roeland also attended New Wilmington High School and assists his father on the farm.

Plans were made for the W. B. A. anniversary party to be held Friday evening, October 26, when there will be a class initiated and the men will be guests as well as members of other reviews.

The committee appointed to take charge of the social arrangements includes Mrs. Ethel Thomas, Mrs. Rachel Reynolds, Mrs. Tillie Hartman, Miss Jessie Harper, Mrs. Hattie Nowling, Mrs. Phoebe Earl and Mrs. Minnie Kaufman. Miss Jessie Harper and her guards will present the floor work.

Bingo formed the entertainment of the after business period with Mrs. Margaret Sherline winning the high score prize.

The evening came to a close with a "hambug" fry prepared by Mrs. Nell Knox and Miss Jessie Harper.

In Alliance, O.

Judge and Mrs. J. A. Chambers and son Philip of Summer avenue were recent guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George Cribbs on Beach road, Alliance, O. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. McMasters of Mt. Union college.

Philip Chambers is a senior at Mt. Union college, and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Class to Party.

Members of the Laura M. Stevenson class of the Central Presbyterian church will have a Hallowe'en party Monday, October 29, instead of October 15, at the home of Edna Robinson, Edinburg road.

The husbands and friends of members will be special guests. The hostess will have Eleanor Lowery and Mrs. Agnes Fisher as her aides.

Rite Club

Mrs. Bennie Gurnea, of Brooklyn avenue extension was hostess on Thursday evening to the I. W. T. club members at her home. A delicious dinner was served at 6 p.m., followed by a business meeting.

Special guests of the occasion were Mrs. Rose Viale and Mrs. Nellie Mazzocco.

The next meeting will be on October 25 at the home of Mrs. John Warnick, Marshall street.

L. A. P. Club Assemblies

Cards formed the pastime for members of the L. A. P. club on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Kahner on Laurel Boulevard who entertained at their regular session.

Mrs. James Royal and Mrs. Betty Pitzer were winners of the prizes for honor scores.

In serving refreshments, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Pitzer.

Their next meeting in three weeks, will take place with Mrs. Jane Royal on Young street.

Attend Game.

Mrs. Fred A. McKee of East street was among the large number of New Castle folks who attended the Pitt-Southern California game in Pittsburgh today.

LOCAL DELEGATES GOING TO CONVENTION

Club women's attention, next week, will be centered in the state convention of the Federation of Women's clubs, which will be held in Harrisburg, from October 15 to 19, inclusive.

Several hundred delegates from all parts of Pennsylvania, will be present, among those going down from New Castle, being Mrs. S. D. Pearson, state director; Mrs. A. P. Treser, president of local Federation, Mrs. Laura Parker, president The Reading circle; Mrs. Alan Ingalls, president Lawrence County Garden club; Mrs. George W. Short, president Art club.

Misses Esther Wallace and Charlotte Bartlett will represent the Junior Federation, the latter two delegates expecting to leave for Harrisburg Sunday, while others will leave on Monday.

The church parlor was cleverly decorated in Hallowe'en style and after guessing of who was who, an award for the cleverest costume was awarded Miss Emma Faiton.

Miss Matilda Drake presided over a short business session and Miss Virginia Bauman was named treasurer to fill the place vacated by the resignation of Mrs. Gwen Smith.

When business was laid aside an amusing series of contests ensued, with prizes awarded Virginia Baum, Mrs. Gwen Smith, Beatrice Jenkins and Mildred Miller.

The guests were then invited to the dining room where refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Glenn Goad. The long table was attractively decorated with lighted Japanese lanterns and other suggestions, carrying out a color scheme of black and orange.

Miss Glenna Goad was a special guest.

November 19 the group will meet with Mrs. Phoebe Dufford Jones.

EMPLOYEES HONOR MORRIS CARSMAN

Honoring Morris Carsman, of Highland avenue, who will leave Sunday morning for Chicago, to assume his duties as manager of one of Neisler's stores, employees of the company store here, numbering about 50, gathered in the home of Mrs. Ann Todd and Mrs. Wilfred Hoyt, of Hutchinson street, at a farewell party on Thursday evening.

During the evening, Miss Ravina Simons, in behalf of the employees, presented Mr. Carsman with a handsome silverware set. The honored guest responded with an appropriate speech of appreciation.

Mr. and Mrs. Carsman were the recipients of numerous individual gifts.

The hours were whiled away playing cards, dancing and listening to radio music. At an appropriate time, the hostesses assisted by Miss Lillian Morris and Miss Irene Todd, served an appetizing spaghetti dinner. Before departing for home, the gathering sang a selection composed by Miss Ravina Simons, who dedicated it to Mr. Carsman. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedman, Jack Conn and Louis Serrato, were special guests.

The committee in charge of the event: Miss Ravina Simons, Mrs. Y. W. C. A. camp and is expected to attract a large number of former collegians, all former alumni being invited.

Class Has Dinner.

A pretty table, seating 17, was arranged in the dining room of the Wesley Methodist church Friday evening when the members of the W. A. C. class assembled for a turbine dinner, with Miss Dorothy Baird as a special guest.

Mr. M. K. Cox conducted a business session when plans were made for a Hallowe'en party October 26, after which a period of sociability was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roeland are receiving the congratulations of many friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Roeland in New Wilmington, following their marriage in New Castle, October 8.

Mrs. Roeland was formerly Isabelle Gearhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gearhart, of Pulaski. She is a graduate of New Wilmington High School, class of 1934. Mr. Roeland also attended New Wilmington High School and assists his father on the farm.

W. B. A. Luncheon

Review '38 of the W. B. A. had its regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall, East Washington street, Friday evening.

Plans were made for the W. B. A. anniversary party to be held Friday evening, October 26, when there will be a class initiated and the men will be guests as well as members of other reviews.

The committee appointed to take charge of the social arrangements includes Mrs. Ethel Thomas, Mrs. Rachel Reynolds, Mrs. Tillie Hartman, Miss Jessie Harper, Mrs. Hattie Nowling, Mrs. Phoebe Earl and Mrs. Minnie Kaufman. Miss Jessie Harper and her guards will present the floor work.

Bingo formed the entertainment of the after business period with Mrs. Margaret Sherline winning the high score prize.

Lawrence County Couple Married For 63 Years

A notable event of the week was the sixty third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Glasser, of Energy, both well and prominent residents of this vicinity on October 10.

The day was spent quietly with relatives and friends but was distinguished by Mr. Glasser cradling a buckwheat and threshing it with a flail, which is indicative of the good health he is enjoying at the ripe age of 85. Mrs. Glasser is 83 and she also is in good health and active.

The happy couple have five children: Mrs. Charles Leonhardt, R. D. I. Ellwood; Mrs. W. T. Barton, Mrs. C. W. Boyer, of Ellwood City; W. A. Glasser, of New Castle and Chas. E. Glasser, of Fredonia.

Many greetings were extended by letter, card and personally, for a much longer span of wedded life, from relatives and scores of friends.

DAUGHTERS AMERICAN COLONISTS' MEETING

First fall session of Kus Kus Ka chapter, Daughters American Colonists, held Friday in the Castleton hotel, was well attended, members being present from Greenville, Butler, Rochester, Beaver and New Castle.

The business meeting, beginning at eleven in the morning, was in charge of the regent, Mrs. M. M. Throckmorton of Beaver. It centered, mostly, on final accounts of the Kus Kus Ka bridge marking, which occurred in August, and new projects suggested by members.

At one o'clock, delicious luncheon was served with chapter colors, gold and blue, predominating in the menu and floral decorations. Covers were laid for 25 guests.

The program, following, was much enjoyed, consisting of a piano selection by Mrs. W. A. McNally, a recitation by little Miss Katherine Johnson, and very interesting accounts of Kus Kus Ka Indians who formerly occupied this part of Lawrence county, by Mrs. F. G. Simonson and George Nichols. Their talks were illustrated by exhibits of articles, used by these Indians in their daily life and warfare.

Arrangements for this delightful meeting were in charge of Mrs. Wyatt Campbell and Miss Gevien Stevenson, upon whom reflects much credit.

Members from Beaver will plan for the next meeting which will be held in Beaver Falls in December.

Mrs. W. A. Glasser, Neshannock Boulevard, spent Friday in Pittsburgh.

ANNIVERSARY PARTY MARY BALTH CLASS

An anniversary in the life of the Mary Balth class of the Highland U. P. church was fittingly observed with a party Friday evening in the class room with Mrs. G. Shaller, Mrs. E. F. Toepfer, Mrs. Perry Thomas, Mrs. Martha Thomas, Mrs. J. V. Stewart and Mrs. A. B. Vogon as hostesses.

The room was artfully dressed in autumnal colorings, which were carried out in the leaves and flowers arranged about the room.

Miss Jane Aiken presided at a business session and Miss Mary Glenn led the devotional period after which the class sisters were made known to each other and thanked for the kindnesses of the year.

Mrs. Mary Balth and Mrs. R. R. McGeorge gave interesting accounts of their vacations after which the members were served a refreshing menu from a table centered with a birthday cake and bowls of autumn flowers, arranged by Mrs. Clarence Fischer.

GENEVA ALUMNI TO HAVE POVERTY PARTY

Alumni of Geneva college in this vicinity are making plans for a poverty party to be held on Tuesday evening, October 23.

The affair will be held at the Y. W. C. A. camp and is expected to attract a large number of former alumnae, all former alumni being invited.

Class Has Dinner.

A pretty table, seating 17, was arranged in the dining room of the Wesley Methodist church Friday evening when the members of the W. A. C. class assembled for a tureen dinner, with Miss Dorothy Baird as a special guest.

Mrs. M. K. Cox conducted a business session when plans were made for a Hallowe'en party October 25, after which a period of sociability was enjoyed.

CROSS PURPOSES

ONE of the things which is now concerning the government at Washington is the extension of our foreign trade. Serious statesmen like Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, believe that this is one way to restore our prosperity.

Whether or not this is true, and there are of course various kinds of foreign trade, it must be admitted that while one branch of the administration is seeking to stimulate our exports another is, perhaps unconsciously, making it harder and harder for our farmers to sell their produce abroad.

When we go into the foreign markets we must compete with foreign producers. To sell meat products, grains and cotton in Europe we must compete with Canada, Australia, Egypt and Russia, and must undersell them or at least meet their prices if we are to do much business. But the AAA is raising our cost of farm production instead of decreasing it, thus making it harder and harder to sell abroad. As one shrewd Middle Western business man and farmer said recently:

"I just bought some pork and beef this morning, and paid $1.08 for what would have cost us 50 cents three or four months ago. The present situation is cutting the consumption of pork tremendously. If they don't stop kiting prices our future as an exporter of foodstuffs is at an end and we are in danger of losing our position as the dominant cotton growing country of the world. Fourteen cent cotton in this country means that Brazil, Russia, India, Egypt and other cotton growing countries will increase their own production, while we are decreasing ours, so taking care of their own needs and filling the place formerly occupied by us as an exporter."

Here is something for the foreign trade propagandists to think about. How can we increase our sales abroad by reducing the amount we have to sell abroad and increasing our cost of production to the point where we will be unable to maintain our foreign markets against other nations which do not practice crop control and regimentation?

We may reduce our output and so temporarily raise prices, but in so doing we may reduce the demand for our produce at home and abroad, until the price for the restricted production will go down to the old figure and our farmers will be getting a lot less money than they were formerly.

After all it is the tonnage of goods sold and not an artificial price which counts. You can't make money selling what you haven't got no matter what price is offered you. Wouldn't it be simpler and better after all to let nature take its course? Nature will do so, anyhow, sooner or later. She has been with us a good many thousand years. The Tugwells and Wallaces are mere passing incidents.

MORE MILLIONS

The proposal that the federal government provide hospital care for everybody unable to pay for it themselves is now advanced.

The plan comes from Franklin S. Edmonds, a former president of the National Tax association. The money with which it would be financed would come from a 5 per cent sales tax on manufacturers. The proponent of the plan estimated such a tax would raise $1,000,000,000 a year—quite a neat sum in even these days of big totals. But apparently more would be needed as the author of the scheme proposes that the revenue from the federal tax be distributed among states which would co-operate in the federal aid plan, presumably by matching the amount of federal aid.

A manufacturers tax of the kind proposed, of course, would be merely a tax on the consumer, to whom it would be passed.

Hospitalization for the needy is an important problem. Those unable to pay for proper medical attention should receive it free. This is a work of charity but many persons doubt whether the time has come when the federal government should engage in charitable work of this kind on a national scale. States and local communities have been taking care of it in the past, and it seems to be properly their task.

GERMANY'S EXPERIENCE

How trifling bureaucracy can be to economic life is finding illustration now in Germany, where the government recently took over control of foreign trade and with it the greater part of industry.

Twenty-five control boards were established as the plan went into effect September 24. These were to have supervision over all import commodities. According to a special dispatch, "the result has been an almost complete paralysis of business, and virtually all foreign trade has been at a standstill since the plan went into effect."

The causes are described as many, among them being the vast amount of red tape and the bureaucratic machinery that operates the new system. Business men are represented as storming the boards, but without obtaining any satisfactory results. Some of the boards admit their helplessness. Others refuse personal interviews.

The situation brings out sharply some of the evils of government interference in private business.

LONG LIFE ON THE FARM

If you would live to a ripe old age go to or remain on the farm. This is one of the interesting findings made by the public health service in a study covering 10 states. Agricultural workers in the states studied were shown to have a much lower death rate than successful business and professional men.

The mortality rate of agricultural workers per 1,000 population, between the ages of 15 and 64, was 6.2 per cent. That of professional men was 7 per cent. The highest rate, 13.1 per cent, was for unskilled workers, while the rate for all classes was 8.7 per cent. Contributing factors to the high death rate in the unskilled class included diet, housing, amount of medical care, contact with infected persons and low income. Tuberculosis and pneumonia were the two most outstanding causes, with accidents ranking third.

So often repentance seems a change of heart when it is merely the condition of the liver.

What a world! Only one creature can reason, and he doesn't enjoy feeding people unless they don't need it.

WAS I CHEATED?
Just sitting here thinking... Wondering about that old fellow... Trying to make up my mind whether to be angry or humiliated or philosophical about him... Whether to keep the books open for a while or to shut them tight and close the account.

A nice, old fellow came in to see me. Came in two or three times, in fact. Came in to tell me he liked what I wrote and he used to work on a newspaper, too, and he still did a little corresponding now and then himself... Sort of sweet, old fellow, seemed kind and gentle, without a bit of contrivance or scheming in his heart... Told me about his sickness, told me about the life he'd lived... Pleasant to talk to, that old fellow, and he's the one I can't decide about.

Last time I saw him he told me he was in some temporary trouble. He was living on about 15 cents a day, and he'd had a little sudden expense and had run out of money. And hadn't been doing much eating or smoking. Could I... would it be possible... would I let him have just enough money to carry him until Wednesday? His small pension check as Spanish-American war veteran would come then... it always did, without fail... and he'd be on hand that very afternoon to pay me back. I could trust him. He wouldn't fail me... I didn't hesitate. (Looking back, I know I didn't because letting him have a dollar seemed as certain as putting it in my own pocket and getting it back again.) I handed over the dollar—and I have not seen him since.

That Wednesday when he promised I'd see him sure was eight days ago, and that sweet old fellow hasn't come yet... He didn't come and he didn't telephone and I didn't get my dollar back... So I don't mind the dollar—well, not so very much—but I don't like the idea of being cheated... Somehow it humiliates me that I shouldn't know more about human nature than to know he was just telling me a story to get a dollar out of me... And, besides, he was such a nice old man and it seems a pity he should be using his sweetness to help him in caging money out of people under false pretenses. It doesn't seem right, you know... I've been cheated before and I didn't mind it so much, but this time I'll confess it hurts and I hate to make up my mind for once and all about it... Lenny, who was sitting at her desk and heard the whole conversation, says he'll be back. She's sure he'll be back. Just wait and see... I'm waiting—and I surely do hope she's right.

DO YOU WORK HARD AT BEING LAZY?

Laziness isn't a disease, as some people claim. It comes as a result of being lazier to do anything than there is a desire not to do.

Lazy persons follow the path of least resistance.

They like to loiter and will do so when they know they should be busy at certain tasks.

To sit and watch others work affords them the utmost satisfaction.

Busy people do not enthuse them to go and do likewise.

Instead they will try to get others to do their tasks for them.

Many a subterfuge do they employ to avoid duties they should do. Time drags slowly, on, and at the end of the day they are tired.

Unless one lies down or lolls around, it is much harder to put in time deliberately loafing than it is to work.

How unsatisfactory it must be to spend so much time and effort to avoid work and realize nothing has been accomplished over which to be elated.

Lazy persons lead a drab life and deserve nothing better.

They complain much over the colorless existence they have, but far be it from them to change matters, through their own initiative.

Lazy folk take the most pains to be lazy.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NEXT!

Among the "fish" stories resulting from the summer's angling comes this one:

Out for swordfish off Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, Captain Frank D'Eon's crew harpooned a big fellow who, instead of racing away toward the open sea, took the line straight down so furiously a rate that the gun-wale smoked. In a few moments the pull on the line stopped. Trying to take in the line and haul the monster aboard, the crew found the line flat.

No amount of pulling would dislodge it, and for fear of breaking the line the fishing vessel was put about in a circle, enabling the crew to pull at the line at various angles until loosened after about an hour's work. The fish, dead when pulled up, had mud up to its eyes. After being hooked, it had dived straight down, thrusting its sword into the ocean bottom.

A strange tale, but Captain D'Eon is known as a truthful man.

MORE MILLIONS

The proposal that the federal government provide hospital care for everybody unable to pay for it themselves is now advanced.

The plan comes from Franklin S. Edmonds, a former president of the National Tax association. The money with which it would be financed would come from a 5 per cent sales tax on manufacturers. The proponent of the plan estimated such a tax would raise $1,000,000,000 a year—quite a sum in even these days of big totals. But apparently more would be needed as the author of the scheme proposes that the revenue from the federal tax be distributed among states which would co-operate in the federal aid plan, presumably by matching the amount of federal aid.

A manufacturers tax of the kind proposed, of course, would be merely a tax on the consumer, to whom it would be passed.

Hospitalization for the needy is an important problem. Those unable to pay for proper medical attention should receive it free. This is a work of charity but many persons doubt whether the time has come when the federal government should engage in charitable work of this kind on a national scale. States and local communities have been taking care of it in the past, and it seems to be properly their task.

GERMANY'S EXPERIENCE

How trifling bureaucracy can be to economic life is finding illustration now in Germany, where the government recently took over control of foreign trade and with it the greater part of industry.

Twenty-five control boards were established as the plan went into effect September 24. These were to have supervision over all import commodities. According to a special dispatch, "the result has been an almost complete paralysis of business, and virtually all foreign trade has been at a standstill since the plan went into effect."

The causes are described as many, among them being the vast amount of red tape and the bureaucratic machinery that operates the new system. Business men are represented as storming the boards, but without obtaining any satisfactory results. Some of the boards admit their helplessness. Others refuse personal interviews.

The situation brings out sharply some of the evils of government interference in private business.

LONG LIFE ON THE FARM

If you would live to a ripe old age go to or remain on the farm.

This is one of the interesting findings made by the public health service in a study covering 10 states. Agricultural workers in the states studied were shown to have a much lower death rate than successful business and professional men.

The mortality rate of agricultural workers per 1,000 population, between the ages of 15 and 64, was 6.2 per cent. That of professional men was 7 per cent. The highest rate, 13.1 per cent, was for unskilled workers, while the rate for all classes was 8.7 per cent. Contributing factors to the high death rate in the unskilled class included diet, housing, amount of medical care, contact with infected persons and low income. Tuberculosis and pneumonia were the two most outstanding causes, with accidents ranking third.

So often repentance seems a change of heart when it is merely the condition of the liver.

What a world! Only one creature can reason, and he doesn't enjoy feeding people unless they don't need it.

WAS I CHEATED?
Just sitting here thinking... Wondering about that old fellow.... Trying to make up my mind whether to be angry or humiliated or philosophical about him... Whether to keep the books open for a while or to shut them tight and close the account.

A nice, old fellow came in to see me. Came in two or three times, in fact. Came in to tell me he liked what I wrote and he used to work on a newspaper, too, and he still did a little corresponding now and then himself.... Sort of sweet, old fellow, seemed kind and gentle, without a bit of contrivance or scheming in his heart.... Told me about his sickness, told me about the life he'd lived.... Pleasant to talk to, that old fellow, and he's the one I can't decide about.

Last time I saw him he told me he was in some temporary trouble. He was living on about 15 cents a day, and he'd had a little sudden expense and had run out of money. And hadn't been doing much eating or smoking. Could I... would it be possible... would I let him have just enough money to carry him until Wednesday? His small pension check as a Spanish-American war veteran would come then... it always did, without fail... and he'd be on hand that very afternoon to pay me back. I could trust him. He wouldn't fail me... I didn't hesitate. (Looking back, I know I didn't because letting him have a dollar seemed as certain as putting it in my own pocket and getting it back again.) I handed over the dollar... and I have not seen him since.

That Wednesday when he promised I'd see him. Sure was eight days ago, and that sweet old fellow hasn't come yet... He didn't come and he didn't telephone and I didn't get my dollar back... I don't mind the dollar—well, not so very much—but I don't like the idea of being cheated.... Somehow it humiliates me that I shouldn't know more about human nature than not to know he was just telling me a story to get a dollar out of me... And, besides, he was such a nice old man and it seems a pity he should be using his sweetness to help him in cadging money out of people under false pretenses. It doesn't seem right, you know... I've been cheated before and I didn't mind it so much, but this time I'll confess it hurts and I hate to make up my mind for once and all about it... Lenny, who was sitting at her desk and heard the whole conversation, says he'll be back, she's sure he'll be back. Just wait and see!... I'm waiting—and I surely do hope she's right.

DO YOU WORK HARD AT BEING LAZY?

Laziness isn't a disease as some people claim. It comes as a result of being averse to doing anything there is a desire not to do.

Lazy persons follow the path of least resistance.

They like to loiter and will do so when they know they should be busy at certain tasks.

To sit and watch others work affords them the utmost satisfaction.

Busy people do not enthuse them to go and do likewise.

Instead they will try to get others to do their tasks for them.

Many a subterfuge do they employ to avoid duties they should do.

Time drags slowly on, and at the end of the day they are tired.

Unless one lies down or lolls around, it is much harder to put in time deliberately loafing than it is to work.

How unsatisfactory it must be to spend so much time and effort to avoid work and realize nothing has been accomplished over which to be elated.

Lazy persons lead a drab life and deserve nothing better.

They complain much over the colorless existence they have, but far be it from them to change matters, through their own initiative.

Lazy folk take the most pains—to be lazy.

KING'S CHAPEL
Church Plans
Celebration

One Hundred And Thirty Years Of Service Will Be Observed This Month

BISHOP LEONARD
WILL BE PRESENT

One hundred and thirty years of service will be celebrated by the King's Chapel Methodist Episcopal church on October 21, 22 and 23, when an appropriate program will be presented.

On Sunday morning, Oct. 21, the celebration will open with a service at 10:45, in charge of Bishop Adina Wright Leonard, LL. D., District Superintendent C. G. Farr, B. D. and Rev. Earl J. Jennings.

Sunday promises to be another great day. The Davis party will be in charge of the morning, afternoon and evening services. Special numbers, both vocal and instrumental, will be rendered by local talent and the Carson brothers of Bridgeville, Pa., will again be present and will bring musical selections on the saxophone, banjo and tenor guitar.

SOROSIS LUNCHEON AT HIGHLAND CHURCH

The dining room of Highland U. P. church, was transformed into a veritable bower of autumn flowers Friday, for the first fall luncheon-meeting of Sorosis, which ushered in the new season of activity.

Large baskets of go-go vivid-hued flowers were arranged attractively about the room and on the long tables, which combined with orange and black tones, suggestive of Hallowe'en. There were covers for 24, including two special guests, Mrs. A. P. Treiser, president of the Lawrence county Federation of Women's clubs, and Miss Henrietta Woods.

After enjoying a luncheon of flavorful delicacies, the business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. George C. White. In answering roll call, the members responded by giving reminiscences of their happiest vacation days.

Mrs. Daniel B. Woolcock, president at large, announced the following committee to represent Sorosis this year in the Federation; American Home, Mrs. Robert N. McBurney; blind, Mrs. Louis Gordon; citizenship, Mrs. G. R. Throop; education, Mrs. Joseph R. McFate; legislation, Mrs. Thomas Clark; public welfare, Mrs. J. Glenn Berry.

Mrs. Treiser was introduced as the afternoon's guest speaker, addressing the club women in terms of fellowship and outlining prospects for the year.

Her talk was followed by a novel game, "brain teasers," which had been cleverly concealed, and which proved a pleasing pastime.

Serving on the committee yesterday, arranging for a very enjoyable and profitless afternoon were: Mrs. R. N. McBurney, Mrs. J. B. Love, Mrs. M. E. Miller, Mrs. J. L. McFate, Mrs. George C. White, Mrs. Daniel B. Woolcock and Mrs. Thomas Clark.

The next meeting will be October 26, at the home of Mrs. L. H. Gordon, 218 East Leasure avenue.

GARDEN CLUB HEARS PERTINENT TOPICS

North Beaver Garden club members, meeting this week with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stewart, at Bessemer, heard a splendid program, timely, instructive and interesting.

After naming "Favorite Trees and Shrubs" for roll call, Harry Bartges gave a paper on "Putting the Garden to Bed."

The general topic, "Getting Shrubbery and Perennials Ready for Winter," was outlined by Mrs. George Clark while important instructions on "Storing of Vegetables for Winter," was given by Mrs. Flossie Andrews. "Care and Planting of Fall Bulbs" was discussed by J. W. Fullerton.

The president appointed a nominating committee, consisting of J. W. Fullerton, chairman, Mrs. George Clark and Mrs. Merle Leslie. It was voted to apply a sum of money from flower show proceeds for the purchase of bulbs for distribution among club members.

On the committee in charge of last evening's delightful program were J. W. Brewster, Harry Bartges and Mrs. C. E. Fullerton.

The November meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Dale Andrews of Mt. Jackson.

MACON BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Associates of the Macon Bridge Club were entertained in a pleasing manner Friday evening in the home of Mrs. J. A. McFall on Winter avenue. The time was spent leisurely with bridge, three tables being in play with Mrs. I. A. Taylor, Mrs. L. T. Moore and Mrs. William Murphy winning prizes for honors.

Upon departing, the members agreed to meet again on Friday, October 26 with Mrs. J. R. Mears, Butler avenue. This occasion will take the form of a Hallowe'en party.

When the clock struck 11 a. m. the mayor stepped from the chief's private office faced a dozen persons who had tags for auto law violations in their hands and remarked:

"I'm not the man to see: this is the place where they take charge of traffic violations" after which he pointed to the office of the sergeant of police and wended his way to his own private office in the city building.

Six persons who were believed cured of constant drinking by the castor oil treatment were given sentence of castor oil again today. They received a dose yesterday.

George Perkins, 1312 Howard Avenue was charged with being the proprietor of disorderly house. It was charged a poker game was in progress when police arrived.

Traffic Arrest Protests

Several of them said they wanted to see Mayor Mayne and they were admitted to his presence. One of them doubted that the person charged with speeding had exceeded the speed limit.

Another person, an employer, who received a tag because he owns the trucks, said he did not know which one of the drivers the police had arrested and tried to find out.

It seems as though the driver was not given a ticket for the offense when he was alleged to have committed the infraction. Another man charged with speeding declared he would waive hearing and stand trial.

Finally the mayor was able to leave the police department and go to his private office on the second floor of the city building where he could attend to duties other than those connected with police work.

Two Suits Entered For Auto Accident

B. F. Black Defendant In Suits Brought By Beerbowers Of Wilmington Township

Two suits for $10,455.66 each have been filed at the prothonotary's office against Benjamin F. Black of this city, one by C. W. and D. T. Beerbower of Wilmington township, and the other by Eleanor B. Beerbower of the same township.

The suits are the result of an automobile accident on Wilmington avenue on May 13, 1934. The Beerbowers, with Eleanor Beerbower driving, were coming south, and when near 708 Wilmington avenue turned out to pass a car that was parked on the west side of the road.

They allege that when the front of their car was at the rear end of the parked car that Benjamin F. Black, driving north, was about 20 feet from the parked car and across the center of the road. It is claimed that he wheeled his car suddenly when he saw the Beerbower car, but the cars collided.

The Beerbower car was badly wrecked and C. W. Beerbower and Eleanor Beerbower seriously injured. It is alleged that the accident was due to the speed and the faulty driving of the Black car.

Fifty Nine Titles Are Examined

Fifty nine titles have been examined for home loans this month in the office of the HOLC, Don F. McGrew manager, announced today, and every effort is being lent towards getting out sufficient titles to bring the month's total of loans up to $1,000,000. The total thus far is somewhat over $200,000 with an increase being shown daily in the number of titles examined.

CHEST DRIVE REPORT MAY COME ON MONDAY

Community Chest directors, scheduled to meet in the Chamber of Commerce offices on Monday, October 15, at 7:30 p. m., will likely hear late reports on the post-campaign solicitation of several volunteer teams which are still seeking 1934-35 subscriptions.

The meeting is a regular one for the board.

Teams raised about $50,000 in the regular campaign period.

Now the reason for Rev. D. C. Schenbech's keen interest in football comes to light—and the New Castle high school football games in particular. The local Presbyterian minister coached Phil Bridenbaugh in the rudiments at the game at F. and M. academy. He takes no credit for the Bridenbaugh genius but just the same feels a little closer to the game. Incidentally, the Republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, William Schnader, attended Franklin and Marshall College at the same time Rev. Schenbech did. They had a nice little chat via telephone the other night after Mr. Schnader's address at the court house.

They had a nice little chat via telephone the other night after Mr. Schnader's address at the court house.

Now the reason for Rev. D. C. Schenbech's keen interest in football comes to light—and the New Castle high school football games in particular. The local Presbyterian minister coached Phil Bridenbaugh in the rudiments at the game at F. and M. academy. He takes no credit for the Bridenbaugh genius but just the same feels a little closer to the game. Incidentally

Mayor Kept Busy On Police Cases

Has Steady Stream Of Visitors At Office This Morning—Numerous
Protests

BOYS MAY RECEIVE CASTOR OIL PENALTY

Mayor Charles B. Mayne was kept busy this morning. From nine until 11 o'clock he did not see the outside of his office.

At nine a.m. he held police court. He disposed of gamblers and several persons accused of intoxication. Then held boy's court in Chief Haven's private office and later heard several persons object to traffic arrests.

Refers Protestors To Police

When the clock struck 11 a.m. the mayor stepped from the chief's private office faced a dozen persons who had tags for auto law violations in their hands and remarked:

"I'm not the man to see; this is the place where they take charge of traffic violations," after which he pointed to the office of the sergeant of police and wended his way to his own private office in the city building.

Six persons who were believed cured of constant drinking by the castor oil treatment were given sentences of castor oil again today. They received a dose yesterday.

George Perkins, 1312 Howard. Al-Jay was charged with being the proprietor of a disorderly house. It was charged a poker game was in progress when police arrived.

The police confiscated the pot which contained 90 cents, 88 of which one man claimed to belong to him. Perkins was fined $100 and three visitors were fined $50.

Boys May Get Castor Oil

As soon as police court was over the mayor glanced toward the aggregation of boys who it was alleged had committed damage during the week. They had been ordered to appear for a lecture.

"I'm going to start that" (meaning castor oil treatment) on the boys some of these days," Mayor Mayne declared. One chap giggled but several others shuddered.

The boys were lectured by the mayor after which a stream of persons who have received notices to pay for traffic violations took their positions in line against the sergeant.

Traffic Arrest Protests

Several of them said they wanted to see Mayor Mayne and they were admitted to his presence. One of them doubted that the person charged with speeding had exceeded the speed limit.

Another person, an employer, who received a tag because he owns the trucks, said he did not know which one of the drivers the police had arrested and tried to find out.

It seems as though the driver was not given a ticket for the offense when he was alleged to have committed the infraction. Another man charged with speeding declared he would waive hearing and stand trial.

Finally the mayor was able to leave the police department and go to his private office on the second floor of the city building where he could attend to duties other than those connected with police work.

Two Suits Entered For Auto Accident

B. F. Black Defendant In Suits
Brought By Beerbowers Of Wilmington Township

Two suits for $10,455.66 each have been filed at the prothonotary's office against Benjamin F. Black of this city, one by C. W. and D. T. Beerbowers of Wilmington township, and the other by Eleanor B. Beerbower of the same township.

The suits are the result of an automobile accident on Wilmington avenue on May 13, 1934. The Beerbowers, with Eleanor Beerbower driving, were coming south, and when near 703 Wilmington avenue turned out to pass a car that was parked on the west side of the road.

They allege that when the front of their car was at the rear end of the parked car, that Benjamin F. Black, driving north, was about 20 feet from the parked car and across the center of the road. It is claimed that he wheeled his car suddenly when he saw the Beerbower car, but the cars collided.

The Beerbower car was badly wrecked and C. W. Beerbower and Eleanor Beerbower seriously injured. It is alleged that the accident was due to the speed and the faulty driving of the Black car.

TROOP 4 NEWS

Boy Scout troop 4 of Mahoningtown met at the Christian church Thursday evening for the regular weekly meeting. The guest of the evening was Harry Gwin, who has a great interest in the troop and its success. He gave the fellows a lot of encouragement. The opening exercises were led by Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Phil McClure, and the meeting was closed by Scoutmaster Bilotti. As special guests Thursday night Bob Waiters and his Cub troop were present. A troop contest is now in progress and the troop extends its welcome to visitors at their regular meetings on Thursdays. Signed, Phil McClure, Junior assistant scoutmaster.

CHEST DRIVE REPORT MAY COME ON MONDAY

Community Chest directors, scheduled to meet in the Chamber of Commerce offices on Monday, October 15, at 7:30 p.m., will likely hear late reports on the post-campaign solicitation of several volunteer teams which are still seeking 1934-35 subscriptions.

The meeting is a regular one for the board. Teams raised about $50,000 in the regular campaign period.

Chivalry, American style: Giving the woman every advantage; secretly hating her for taking it.

A regular lodge meeting will be conducted on the following afternoon, October 18, at the city building.

Those who buttoned their jackets a little tighter and made comments about it being a bit chilly Friday were all wrong. A young lady who had seen at least three autumns walked nonchalantly along North Liberty street near East Cherry street in a bathing suit and nothing else. She said "nope, not cold" and she ought to know.

Now the reason for Rev. D. C. Schenbeck's keen interest in football comes to light—and the New Castle high school football games in particular. The local Presbyterian minister coached Phil Bridenbaugh in the rudiments of the game at F. and M. academy. He takes no credit for the same feels a little closer to the game. Incidentally, the Republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, William Schnader, attended Franklin and Marshall College at the same time Rev. Schenbeck did. They had a nice little chat via telephone the other night after Mr. Schnader's address at the courthouse.

Mahoning school now has a Girl Reserve club and a lively one it is.

The membership is large and enthusiastic, the faculty advisers competent and interested. This is the first time Mahoning has had a Girl Reserve club and credit for the organizing goes to the ability of Miss Marian Wilson, Girl Reserve Secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

Three New Castle women were given outstanding honorary parts in the state meeting of the G. I. A. held at Pittsburgh Thursday. Mrs. C. D. Wharton, of Wilmington avenue, filled the vice chairmanship; Mrs. W. C. Curran, of Walmo, and Mrs. Clyde Perrine, of Norwood avenue, were in the guard team.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Birthday.
The Accident Of Birth.
Goodby To $150,000,

Justice Has Changed.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THURSDAY WAS Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's fiftieth birthday and every man and woman in the United States will wish her many years more of life and happiness. She sets before Americans a good example of earnestness, sincerity, modesty and accomplishment.

Mrs. Roosevelt is doubly "a Roosevelt"—the wife of the President of the United States and the niece of Theodore Roosevelt, another President of the United States.

It happens that Mrs. Roosevelt at 50 looks not a day older than 35, but it also happens that she cares nothing about that.

YOU STUDY pictures of the eleven-year-old boy Peter, declared King of Jugo-Slavia. Later, if he lives, and Jugo-Slavia lasts, as a country, he will be the actual ruler.

The boy, at the time of his father's cruel murder, was in an English school, learning the rudiments of football, Latin, cricket, Greek, tennis and other accomplishments, "becoming a gentleman's son."

Studying that young face, upon which time has written little, you are reminded that throughout history the world has been ruled by individuals, the character and ability of those depending upon the accident of birth.

That accident might give to a nation the blessing of a Marcus Aurelius, the curse of an Ivan the Terrible, one of the French rois faineants "do nothing kings," or the intense cold, cruel efficiency of a Louis the Eleventh, most useful of French kings and most thoroughly hated.

An exception to this rulership depending on the accident of birth has been the long succession of popes.

No accident of birth selected them, but the careful choice of a college of cardinals made up of the most keenly intelligent men in Europe. That helps to explain the fact that the line of popes has outlasted in power, by a thousand years, any other in Europe's history.

THIS WILL interest Californians who know that the prosperity of the citizens depends upon the prosperity of the state.

Florida watches California's moving picture industry, as an intelligent spider watches a fly coming toward its parlor.

The Miami Herald, observing editorially that "the state of California is threatening to imperial motion picture investments by the tax doctrines of a Democratic-Socialist Governor, and the stars of the screen may have to find a new home," announces that FLORIDA proposes to be that new home, and the Herald, not exactly sad about it, foresees the state of Florida "enriched by the addition of $75,000,000 to $150,000,000 of property and salaries and wages to workers."

CALIFORNIA and Mr. Upton Sinclair will be interested to know that Florida on November 6 will vote on a constitutional amendment to exempt from all taxes for fifteen years to come any motion picture enterprises that may establish themselves in the state of Florida.

The Miami Herald says, editorially: "It behoves the people to vote 'yes' on the constitutional amendment" (that would give motion picture enterprises fifteen years of tax exemption).

THE PENSACOLA News-Journal Company wires concerning the Florida constitutional tax exemption, on land, buildings, chattels, raw materials, as well as finished products of moving picture industry, "that this amendment will pass by a large majority."

This is important news for California. It requires little intelligence to realize that any program threatening, by excessive taxation, to drive out seventy-five to one hundred million dollars in annual (Continued From Page Twelve)

Pitt-Trojans Battle Today

Important Inter-sectional Game Will Be Played At Pitt Stadium

PITT ELEVEN MADE FAVORITES

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—Built up even beyond its undoubted and outstanding merit by a tale of continuous rivel and frolic in Hollywood, the great meeting of the day in football was to take place in the presence of 60,000 this afternoon with a grim, hard-pun Pittsburgh team on one side and, on the other, the supposedly decadent Southern California outfit, charged with having done its training with a blonde on either arm. That isn't a charge; it's generally an exaggeration, but the Trojans, apparently outraged, have been at considerable pains to deny it.

Nevertheless, the Trojans lost 19 to 0 to Washington State last week, greatly to their shock and chagrin, and according to the 3-2 odds here this morning, were due for general landscaping job by the sons of track walkers, foremen, green grocers and other society leaders here. Their idea of Hollywood, it seems, is that it sits around till all hours of tiger skins sniffing idly at orchids.

They resent the orchids. After all, there is a limit to everything. They didn't so greatly mind being beaten before in California when these Trojans were playing great big, homely, foot-on-the-face football. But no dot-and-dash with an orchid in his hand is going to do it now, or so they aver.

Pitt Wants Revenge

These teams, in other words, are not total strangers. Twice Pitt has gone to California to take the grandfather of all beatings in the Rose Bowl; what happened, in fact, was enough to make the ghosts of all track walkers arise and begin their endless pacings all over again. But they are patient here in this hard coal district. They can wait and the idea is that, with great freshman replacements to support Hartwig at one tackle; Shotwell at center and Weinstock and Weisenbaugh in the backfield, the great hour is very near.

They felt that way, in fact, before they even learned of the blight that Hollywood had cast upon the institution of Trojan football. They're sure of it now.

Grove City Hi Defeats Union

Grove City Takes Over
Union In Game Friday,
Score On Long Passes

FINAL SCORE OF
CONTEST IS 24-0

Grove City high school football team handed Union township high a 24 to 0 defeat yesterday afternoon at Grove City high field. The Grovers, coached by Joe Hartman, former New Castle high and Grove City legend star, outclassed the Unions in every department, and one of the features of the game was the great punting of Weber, who kicked them 60 and 70 yards with ease.

Union high was on the defensive most of the afternoon. Grove City would get the ball and kick to Union back on the goal line. This happened quite a few times.

Grove City Strong.

The Grovers scored in the first period with Alken ripping through the Union line for runs of 20 yards that produced the first points. The extra point was blocked. The game was more even in the second period with Union putting out of danger and Grove City trying to score.

The first half found Grove City leading 6 to 0. In the third period a long forward pass Alken took to J. Smith for 30 yards. Was taken by Smith on the Union 20-yard line and he ran over for the touchdown. The extra point again failed. Grove City scored two more touchdowns in the fourth and final period with Uber and King taking the ball over.

Union never threatened the Grove City goal line. In the matter of penalties Union drew 63 yards and Grove City 48 yards. Grove City made two out of six passes good and Union failed to complete a single pass out of five tries.

The summary: Grove City 24 Union 0

Pitt-Trojans Battle Today

Important Intersectional Game Will Be Played At Pitt Stadium

PITT ELEVEN MADE FAVORITES

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—Built up even beyond its undoubted and outstanding merit by a tale of continuous frivol and frolic in Hollywood, the great meeting of the day in football was to take place in the presence of 60,000 this afternoon with a grim, hard-pant Pittsburgh team on one side and, on the other, the supposedly decadent Southern California outfit, charged with having done its training with a blonde on either arm. That isn't a charge; it's generally an exaggeration but the Trojans, apparently outraged, have been at considerable pains to deny it.

Nevertheless, the Trojans lost 19 to 0 to Washington State last week, greatly to their shock and chagrin, and according to the 3-2 odds here this morning, were due for general landscaping job by the sons of track walkers, foremen, green grocers and other society leaders here. Their idea of Hollywood, it seems, is that it sits around till all hours of tiger skins sniffing idly at orchids.

They resent the orchids. After all, there is a limit to everything. They didn't so greatly mind being beaten before in California when these Trojans were playing great big, homely, foot-on-the-face football. But no dot-and-dash with an orchid in his hand going to do it now, or so they aver.

Pitt Wants Revenge

These teams, in other words, are not total strangers. Twice Pitt has gone to California to take the grandfather of all beatings in the Rose Bowl; what happened, in fact, was enough to make the ghosts of all track walkers arise and begin their endless pacings all over again. But they are patient here in this hard coal district. They can wait and the idea is that, with great freshman replacements to support Hartshorne at one tackle; Shotwell at center and Weinstock and Weisenbaugh in the backfield, the great hour is very near.

They felt that way, in fact, before they even learned of the blight that Hollywood had cast upon the institution of Trojan football. They're sure of it now.

Athletic Club At St. Andrews Plans Program

Meeting Is Held Last Evening, When Indoor Program Is Outlined

St. Andrews Men's Athletic Club met Friday evening in the church for the first meeting of the fall and winter season, and made some interesting plans for the coming season. C. W. Herman Hess, one of the outstanding speakers of the city, was presented and addressed the club. He chose Christopher Columbus for his theme and the splendid talk he gave was thoroughly enjoyed.

There were between thirty and forty present, the meeting being presided over by President Tom Evans. David Leishman, Sr., gave an interesting poem, which was enjoyed very much. William Evans and Tom Evans sang a duet, followed by solos by Fred Kosek and Mr. Walford, after which a song festival was enjoyed by all those present, old time favorites being sung. Rev. Black gave an interesting talk, in conclusion.

The election of officers will take place at the meeting of the club next Friday evening at 8 o'clock, which is expected to attract a large attendance.

Legislation May Prevent Future Ship Disasters

Morro Castle Disaster Struck Grave Warning On Hearts Of Legislators

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 13.—The Morro Castle disaster should result in legislation by the next congress, Secretary of Commerce Roper declared Friday in an address before the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

Roper urged congress to aid in the building of a "merchant marine second to none in the world" and also to enact laws to force fire-proofing of ships and the better training of seamen.

"The Morro Castle calamity impresses us with two points which must have immediate and constructive consideration," Roper said. "They are the making of our ships nearly fireproof as human genius can devise, and the better training of those who handle American ships, from the lowest man in the crew to the highest official."

Outline Plan

He expressed the hope that congress would act "to take the American merchant marine off the present unorganized status and put it on a businesslike basis."

Roper, however, said he favored reducing ship subsidies as much as possible and "then avoiding secret diplomacy in relation thereto."

Subsidies, he said, should be based upon the following factors:

1. The excess cost of construction of the country.
2. The considerably higher cost of seamen and other laborers compared with foreign countries.
3. The subsidies given by foreign countries to their ship operators.
4. The payment of subsidies for trade penetration or trade development work.

MISSIONARY MEETING

Eleven members were present on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Unangst, of Erie street, when she entertained the Young Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Devotionals were led by Mrs. Bessie Willey, with the president, Mrs. Marie Biddle, in charge of the business meeting. A very interesting program was given with Mrs. Bertha Bonnett as leader and four members taking part. Mrs. George Kuhn gave several splendid readings on "Christian Citizenship." At the close of the meeting the hostess served a dainty lunch, assisted by Mrs. Robert Hammers, Mrs. Laura Smith, as a special guest. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Hammers with Mrs. Mabel Umkest, devotional leader, and Mrs. Mary Louden, program leader.

W. H. M. SOCIETY

Mrs. Harry Park of West street was a pleasing hostess to twelve members of the Womens Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church Thursday afternoon in her home, when she entertained at their regular monthly meeting. Devotionals were given by Mrs. Scott Ingessoll with Verna Martin in charge of the program. A paper on "Good Citizenship" was read by Mrs. Norman McClelland and a talk on "Cleaning Up The Movies" was given by Mrs. A. Hoffmaster. A social time concluded the afternoon when the hostess served refreshments assisted by Miss Martin.

EDENBURG NOTES

Mrs. Roy Campbell of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Harvey Gwin, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Rebekah Truxall or New Castle spent Thursday with their sister, Mrs. Addie Hoover.

Mrs. Todd Hoffmeister of Ashtabula, visited friends here Thursday. She was accompanied home by her sister, Mrs. Laura Coates. They plan attending the World's Fair in Chicago.

Jessie Morrow, Alice Mack and Vera Simonson attended a hamburg fry with their class members of Home Economics at the New Castle Senior High school Thursday evening, which took place at Gunton Park after class.

Tin Workers' Party Takes 94 To Fair

Ninety four New Castle residents, most of them American Sheet and Tin Plate Company employees, left for a week end excursion to the Chicago World's fair last night aboard two special cars attached to a regular Chicago express over the P. and L. E.

The party of tin workers entrained at 9:15 at the Lake Erie's East Side tracks from which point their coaches were taken to New Castle junction and attached to the regular train there.

The group is scheduled to return here at 6:45 a. m. on Monday. The two cars will be brought to the East side siding.

All an idealistic scheme needs is say about 10,000 years) to develop ideal people to work it.

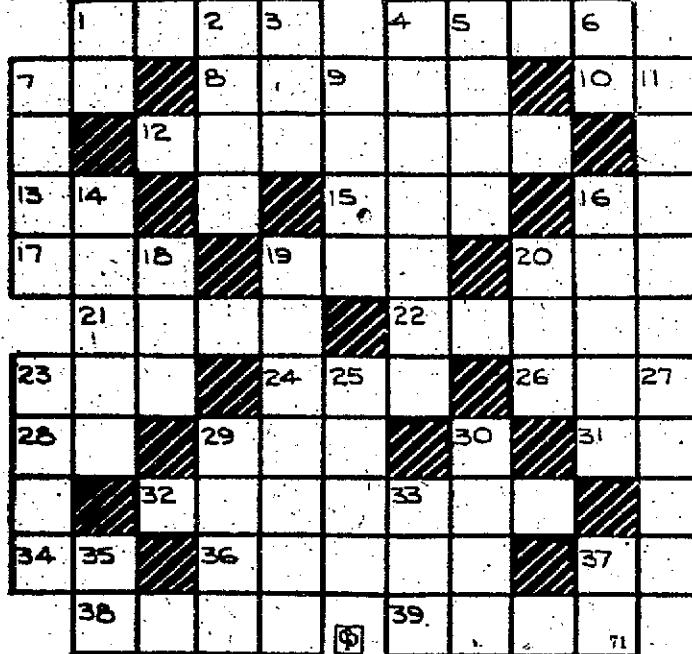

Joe Palooka In News, Starting Monday

Joe Palooka, one of the popular comic strips which is widely followed, will make its appearance in The News, starting Monday.

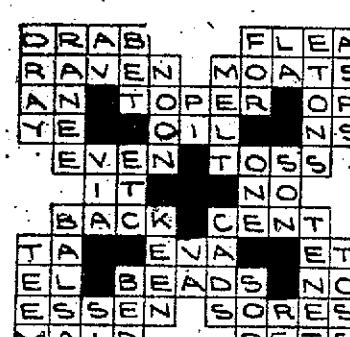

It will replace the strip, "Oliver and His Dog," which has been running for some years.

Because of the fact that a new episode is being started Monday by Joe Palooka the substitution will be made in Monday's issue of The News.

Legislation May Prevent Future Ship Disasters

Morro Castle Disaster Struck Grave Warning On Hearts Of Legislators

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 13.—The Morro Castle disaster should result in legislation by the next congress. Secretary of Commerce Roper declared Friday in an address before the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

Roper urged congress to aid in the building of a "merchant marine second to none in the world" and also to enact laws to force fire-proofing of ships and the better training of seamen.

"The Morro Castle calamity impresses us with two points which must have immediate and constructive consideration," Roper said. "They are the making of our ships as nearly fireproof as human ingenuity can devise, and the better training of those who handle American ships, from the lowest man in the crew to the highest official."

Outlines Plans

He expressed the hope that congress would act "to take the American merchant marine off the present unorganized status and put it on a businesslike basis."

Roper, however, said he favored reducing ship subsidies as much as possible and "then avoiding secret diplomacy in relation thereto."

Subsidies, he said, should be based upon the following factors:

1. The excess cost of construction in this country.
2. The considerably higher cost of seamen and other laborers compared with foreign countries.
3. The subsidies given by foreign countries to their ship operators.
4. The payment of subsidies for trade penetration or trade development work.

STOCKS

Stock Market Is Irregular

Little Change In Prices During Trading Of Morning

BOND MARKET REPORTED STEADY

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The stock market was a generally irregular affair today as some speculative selling was induced by the sharp official denials of inflation and the president's affirmation of the 36 hour week for the garment industry.

Such losses as did occur ran to about a point, but the volume of trading with the exception of the opening was rather small.

The commodity markets were weak with wheat and corn down from 1 to more than 2 cents a bushel reflecting yesterday's weakness in the foreign markets. The cotton market fell nearly 50 cents a bale.

McEllan stores again was a feature today but this time on the downside losing more than a point on a fairly large turnover. The selling here was apparently induced by the announcement that the securities and exchange commission was investigating the sharp rise in the stock in recent sessions.

United States Steel lost about a point at the opening but firmed before the end of the first hour. Other industrial shares were inclined to work lower under the leadership of American Can which lost more than a point.

Auburn was the feature of the motor shares rising more than a point in the face of moderate declines in General Motors and Chrysler.

There was little to feature the rail shares where with the exception of Delaware & Hudson which lost nearly 2 points, the prices held steady. Atchison, New York Central and Lackawanna held around their previous closing prices.

Utilities were quiet and moderately lower in light trading.

Mining shares were quiet and generally steady despite the set back to the inflation advocates.

Oil shares were slightly easier under the lead of Standard Oil of N. J. reflecting the price war in that company's territory.

Mail order and farm implement shares were quiet but somewhat heavy in sympathy with the decline in wheat.

The bond market was steady with United States Governments rising sharply on strength in the dollar and the calling of an additional block of liberty bonds.

SHOWS SYSTEM COST FOR CITY TO BUILD

Council and supervisors of Union Township will meet Monday for the purpose of discussing the study of the sanitary sewer plant and system in this city and a decision may be reached later as to whether the supervisors would be willing for residents to pay the cost the city would charge for permitting connections to the city sewer system. If they do the RWD will be asked to build the sewer system in Union Township, according to city officials.

Hoskins report given both Union Township supervisors and council says:

"Several methods of approach to this problem in my judgment would arrive at almost the same conclusion. Several of these methods would entail a great deal of work and in my judgment would make no material change in the result."

The solicitor and I both believe that this method of approach is as equitable as any that can be determined and for that reason I feel that if council sees fit, it should be the annual amount of rental to the city for service of its kind."

He cites figures as follows: The value of the disposal plant (land) is $43,728.30 and the construction cost was $45,136.53 or a total of $94,864.83. He gives the operating cost of the plant from 1927 to 1933, as $87,974.46 and the average operating cost per year at $12,567.78. He gives the operating cost of the sewer system including sanitary and storm for the same period at $7,638.55 and divided equally would be $39,418.05 or an average operating cost of $5,631.29.

"It will be seen from these figures," he reports, "that the total cost of the sanitary sewers constructed from 1905 until the present time was $384,105.29 and the total number of feet constructed during the same time was 209,756 feet, from which an average cost of $1.7558 per linear foot can be arrived at."

"The last annual report of the city shows a total of 86,698 miles and when multiplied by 5,280 feet in a mile equals a total length of 457,765.44 linear feet in the sanitary sewer system. If this length of the entire sewer system of 457,765.44, is multiplied by 1.7358, the average cost per foot over the 30 year period shows the total value of the sewer system now at $794,593.25."

"If this is added to the $494,684.83, shown to be the actual value of the disposal plant these two items will show the total cost of the system including plant and main to be $1,289,54.08. If six percent interest is figured on this amount, the result is $77,387.25, which I believe to be carrying cost of the whole system in dollars per year to the city taxpay-

"Now, from the above," the report states, "it is also shown that the average maintenance of the sewage disposal plant is $12,567.78 per year while the cost of maintaining the sewers themselves is $5,631.29. When these three items are added we get a result of $95,566.32, the annual cost to the city for the whole system."

"The 1930 census shows the population of the city as 48,674, and if an average of four is used to the family the minimum of families will be 12,169 residing in the city.

"We find this number to be as close an estimate to the number of connections actually in use in the city, so that if the total annual cost to the city for servicing, maintaining and paying the interest on the investment is $95,566.32, and this is divided by 12,169, the number of connections in use in the city the resulting price of $7.65 will represent the cost per connection per year to the people of the city, the report adds.

"We feel that if these figures represent a correct picture of the situation and we believe they do, and it is so agreed by council we would respectfully suggest that council establish a flat rate per connection per year for all connections outside of the city in line with these figures."

On Court House Hill

In the case of D. M. Ritchie against Maud Smith, administratrix of William D. Smith, which was tried at court yesterday, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $265, the balance claimed on a funeral bill.

Attorney Clyde V. Ailey, executor in the estate of the late John W. Brothers, has presented a petition in court to be discharged as executor, he having settled up the estate. November 5 was fixed as a time for hearing.

A certificate from Beaver county showing that letters of administration have been granted in the estate of Abraham S. Stauffer to Philip E. Hamilton and Dr. J. S. Wells, has been filed at the register and recorder's office here.

Letters of administration in the estate of William N. Trusell, late of this city, have been issued by Register and Recorder Hanna to Mary A. Trusell. Letters in the estate of William H. White, late of Newcastle, have been issued to Lucinda M. White.

In the case of Mary Lesniak, by her guardian, John Yara, against Saint Michael society No. 1237, Polish National Alliance, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand, a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $36.58. In the case of Helen Yara, by her guardian, John Yara, against the same society, a verdict for a similar amount was rendered. Mary Lesniak and Helen Yara were step-daughters of John Boran, deceased, who had a small insurance policy in Polish National Alliance. Mrs. Boran, wife of the late John Boran is dead, and as there were no children to the union the money is found to belong to the step-children.

In the case of Nicola Damato against Claudia Fantone and Genio Fantone, Claudia Fantone has presented a petition in court setting forth that she is the widow of Genio Fantone, and signed a note for $300 with her husband, upon which judgment has been entered. She alleges that she was only an accommodation maker on the note, and received none of the proceeds. She contends that the judgment is void for the reason that it was after the death of her husband. A rule to show why Mrs. Fantone should not be released from the judgment has been issued.

County commissioners have compiled a list of the registered voters in the different boroughs and townships of the county, along with those in the city of New Castle. The registration figure in the city were published in The News on Monday, October 8.

SHOWS SYSTEM COST FOR CITY TO BUILD

Council and supervisors of Union Township will meet Monday for the purpose of discussing the study of the sanitary sewer plant and system in this city and a decision may be reached later as to whether the supervisors would be willing to residents to pay the cost the city would charge for permitting connections to the city sewer system. If they do the EWD will be asked to build the sewer system in Union Township according to city officials.

Hoskins report given both Union Township supervisors and council says:

"Several methods of approach to this problem in my judgment would arrive at almost the same conclusion. Several of these methods would entail a great deal of work and in my judgment would make no material change in the result."

He cites figures as follows:

The value of the disposal plant land is $43,728.30 and the construction cost was $45,136.53 or a total of $84,864.83. He gives the operating cost of the plant from 1927 to 1933, as $97,974.46 and the average operating cost per year at $12,587.78. He gives the operating cost of the sewer system including sanitary and storm for the same period at $78,838.65 and divided equally would be $9,419.03 or an average operating cost of $5,631.29.

"It will be seen from these figures," he reports, "that the total cost of the sanitary sewers constructed from 1908 until the present time was $364,105.28 and the total number of feet constructed during the same time was 209,755 feet, from which an average cost of $1,735 per linear foot can be arrived at.

"The last annual report of the city shows a total of 86,698 miles and this multiplied by 5,280 feet in a mile equals a total length of 437,765.44 linear feet in the sanitary sewer system. If this length of the entire sewer system of 437,765.44, is multiplied by 1.7358, the average cost per foot over the 30 year period shows the total value of the sewer system now at $704,598.25.

"If this be added to the $94,864.83, shown to be the actual value of the disposal plant, these two items will show the total cost of the system including plant and main to be $1,289,454.08. If six percent interest is figured on this amount, the result is $77,357.25, which I believe to be carrying cost of the whole system in dollars per year to the city tax-payers.

"Now, from the above," the report states, "it is also shown that the average maintenance of the sewage disposal plant is $12,587.78 per year, while the cost of maintaining the sewers themselves is $5,631.29. When these three items are added we get a result of $95,566.32, the annual cost to the city for the whole system."

"The 1930 census shows the population of the city as 48,674 and if an average of four is used to the family the minimum of families will be 12,168 residing in the city.

"We feel this number to be as close an estimate to the number of connections actually in use in the city, so that if the total annual cost to the city for servicing, maintaining and paying the interest on the investment is $95,566.32, and this is divided by 12,168, the number of connections in use in the city, the resulting price of $7.65 will represent the cost per connection per year to the people of the city, the report adds.

"We feel that if these figures represent a correct picture of the situation and we believe they do, and it is agreed by council we would specifically suggest that council establish a flat rate per connection per year for all connections outside of the city in line with these figures."

In the case of D. M. Ritchie against Maud Smith, administratrix of William D. Smith, which was tried at court yesterday, the jury found a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $265, the balance claimed on a funeral bill.

Attorney Clyde V. Alley, executor in the estate of the late John W. Brothers, has presented a petition to the court to be discharged as executor, he having settled up the estate. November 5 was fixed as a time for re-order's office here.

A certificate from Beaver county, showing that letters of administration have been granted in the estate of Abraham S. Stauffer to Philip E. Hamilton and Dr. J. S. Wells, has been filed at the register and recorder's office here.

Letters of administration in the estate of William N. Trusell, late of this city, have been issued by Register and Recorder Hanna to Mary A. Trusell. Letters in the estate of William H. White, late of New Castle, have been issued to Lucinda M. White.

In the case of Mary Lesniak, by her guardian, John Yara, against Saint Michael Society No. 1237, Polish National Alliance, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand, a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $36.58. In the case of Helen Yara, by her guardian, John Yara, against the same society, a verdict for a similar amount was rendered. Mary Lesniak and Helen Yara were step-daughters of John Boran deceased, who had a small insurance policy in Polish National Alliance. Mrs. Boran, wife of the late John Boran is dead, and as there were no children to the union the money is found to belong to the step-children.

In the case of Nicola Damato against Claudia Fantone and Genvina Fantone, Claudia Fantone has presented a petition in court setting forth that she is the widow of Genvina Fantone, and signed a note for $300 with her husband, upon which judgment has been entered. She alleges that she was only an accommodation maker on the note and received none of the proceeds. She contends that the judgment is void for the reason that it was after the death of her husband.

A rule to show why Mrs. Fantone should not be released from the judgment has been issued.
